

DUCT MAZE

Once you've found the path through the maze (shown on the picture), you have to figure out which letters to read. If you pass through the cell without exiting the duct, you can't really see the letter written on the wall of the cell. So the answer is all letters you can actually see in the order in which you see them on your way through the maze, i.e. letters in cells in which you exit one duct and enter another one.

ANSWER: AIR OXYGENATION